CLOSED

U. E. Jennings was in Edmonton on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. McCrorie, of Edmonton, were visitors in town the week end.

Toronto, August 14th, 1914 Canadian Women's Hospital Ship Fund. On behalf of the Committee, I beg to acknowledge, with thanks, the receipt of $125.00 from Women of Ponoka.

HELEN M. BUTCH, Treas.

There are quite a number of strangers in our midst at present, several of whom intend to locate.

G. M. Crawford, principal of Clive school, spent Sunday at the home of G. D. Clark.

W. Flansburg and Geo. McMillan, who have been visiting their relatives in this district, left for their home in Surprise, Nebraska, on Tuesday.

Mrs. McCallum, of California, is visiting with her uncle, Mr. W. A. Martin.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wheeler have returned from their holiday in Banff, and the regular services will be resumed in the Presbyterian church.

Geo. Welford, well-known in our district, left to join his regiment on Monday. He is a reservist, his regiment, the Somersetshire Light Infantry, being in the front.

Many of our readers will learn with interest that our old townsman, L. S. Bowker, has gone to fight for his country, having left with the first Edmonton contingent the other day. Many friends will wish him a safe return.

Duck shooting opened on Tuesday, and the slaughter was said to be great. Owing to the floods in spring "flappers" are very numerous. The chicken shooting opens October 1st.

Recruiting for the Mounted Police has been going on in our midst for some time past, and some twelve young men have joined the force. The period of enlistment is for one year, with an opportunity of extension if satisfaction is given. In this dull time, this is certainly a good opportunity for our young men.

S. C. Davies, of Emerson, Iowa, who has been looking over his property in the Springdale district, left for home on Tuesday. It is some seven years since he left these parts, but sees such a change for the better that he is to make a great effort to get back.

Tuesday morning, September 1, we were reminded that winter is at hand. The garden truck full of the crops have put on a yellow hue, and so we must just own up that it did freeze, and that hard. Nothing else could be expected, and it is pleasing to know that practically all the grain is safe.

The following was the enrolment of pupils in the Ponoka school on the opening day—Primary, 20; grades 2, 3 and 4, 45; grades 5 and 6, 49; grades 7 and 8, 28; grade 9, 29; grade 10, 20; grade 11, 13. This is something to be proud of—over 200 children in our public school. There is some hope for Ponoka and district after all.

Sympathy will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander in the death of their infant son, which took place on Sunday evening.

OLD DANISH LAW

No punishment should be so severe for those who take advantage of the European war and the famine in the East. Many dealers in chemicals and toilet articles come from abroad. We have already seen how they have made a fortune in the East. We have seen how they have made a fortune in the East. We have seen how they have made a fortune in the East.

When war was declared we purchased a rather good supply of soap of Mr. Campbell Drug Company's prices will not be raised. Although we may find it necessary, in some instances, to limit quantities in order that our stock may be at the service of the greatest possible number of customers, we will not advance our prices until our present stocks are exhausted, and such advances will be only enough to cover our expenses.

We shall follow our time-honored method of protecting the interests of our customers to the fullest extent.

PEACE RIVER COUNTRY

Dunvegan, A. In, August 8.
Editor, Ponoka Herald.

Dear Sir,—I promised you a letter some time ago. I believe, and though I cannot do justice to the subject in hand, I will state a few facts concerning things that have come under my observation since I saw you last, while en route to the Peace River country.

I spent the greater part of last year in the Peace River district, in the vicinity of Fort Vermilion and Vermilion Falls, and fully intended to give you a detailed account of our experience during that time, but owing to the fact that my dear wife (who is now laid to rest at Fort Vermilion), was so closely connected with most of these incidents I would have told you that period must remain a closed book for the present.

I left Edmonton on the E. D. & B. C. railway at 8 a.m., and arrived at Smith Station about midnight. The morning the Athabasca River was crossed in a boat, and then aboard the construction train running from Smith to Sawridge, which consists of a donkey engine, a box car, and a flat car. (Since then the bridge has been completed across the river, and the trains run direct to Sawridge, the fare being 75¢. That ride from Smith to Sawridge could hardly be called a joy ride, but was very interesting just the same.)

One incident (proving that those in charge are very accommodating) occurred when a man's straw hat blew off. After considerable waiting and shouting he succeeded in tripping the train, and ran back half a mile, while the engineers, etc., had a quiet smoke. It was thought the hat must be very valuable to hold up a train, but the owner told us the selling price was 75¢.

That piece of railroad is somewhat uneven, owing to wash-outs, etc., and it was amusing at times to see the contractors and brakemen pushing on the lower side of the engine in order to prevent it tipping over, and making the passengers to crowd over to one side of the cars for the same reason. Sawridge was reached in the evening, however, all being dirty and hungry, and good justice was done to a square meal at the hotel.

Sawridge boasts a population of about 100, and may be a city some day, though it has to grow some.

Lesser Slave Lake was crossed in a gasoline boat during the night, time taken was 5 hours, and the fare $5, and light luggage fee. We retired to rest for a few hours on reaching Ground, but not to sleep, for one of the worthy residents, though in a dry town, felt some what bilious, and insisted on trying over all the popular songs of the day in front of the hotel, presumably for our benefit, though he was not asked. He could scarcely have been drinking in Ground, but as the Scotch say, must have "been tasting." He kept it up until a man much bigger than himself got up and went outside, and that ended the concert.

The population of Ground has been estimated at from 1000 to 2000. The former figure, nearly to the mark. It consists mostly of one street, nearly two miles long, running along the edge of Buffalo Bay.

The residents are very disappointed because the E. D. & B. C. railway has passed ten miles to the south of them, and that when they will get it is a matter of conjecture. From Ground to Peace River Crossing is approximately ninety miles by trail, and is by far the worst part of the trip. I have made three times over that journey, and cannot look back with much pleasure over any one of them. When the trail is wet travelling is slow and difficult, especially for teams with freight, and when they are dry, they are so rough that walking is preferable to riding most of the time. There seems to be no set passenger rate on the trail. I have always got over for a ten dollar bill. The land is more or less timbered with poplar, birch and spruce all along the road, and while there is quite a lot of vacant homestead land between these two places, I have found much better land further afield.

I believe the impression of most people, who are looking for land, is rather poor as they approach the Peace River, for while the first view of both the Smoky and Peace rivers is very pretty, the banks are long and rugged, and it takes one a long time to climb the river banks on either side to get to level agricultural land; but after crossing the river one gets a better impression right away, and generally comes back satisfied.

I cannot take up more of your space, Mr. Editor, though I have said nothing of Peace River Crossing itself, or of the beautiful country between there and Dunvegan, where I am now, or of Fort Vermilion either, but will be glad to do so in the near future.

Sincerely,

T. H. DRAVYOTT.

[Let us hear from you again].

Finthrop Bros., of Clive, were through the district looking for fat calves.

Mr. Bennett, with his road crew, was doing some work on the hill between E. D. & B. C. and Dunvegan. Rev. Macdon, the Presbyterian minister, will retire from this field. Mrs. E. Owens has gone to North Saskatchewan for a week's visit with Mrs. McDonald, formerly a teacher of this district. Ed. and Wilfred accompanied her as far as Edmonton.

Haying operations have been suspended in order to harvest the grain crop.

SPRINGDALE

Sam Davis, of Emerson, Neb., is visiting E. B. Say.

Mr. Flansburg of Surprise, Neb., is spending a vacation with his sons.

Among the crowd at the Slaty Ranch on Sunday were Mr. Flansburg, son, Sam Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Flansburg, F. Flansburg, Mrs. Patterson and Mr. Chubb.

It is pleasing to report that O. Erickson is prospering remarkably.

Great will be the crowd at the Mickey Ranch for the dance of the season.

BRITISH LEGISLATION FOR RAISING WAGES

Endeavors of British Government to Remedy Evil Working Conditions
Wage Actually Low

The Weekly London Letter of the Journal of Commerce of Montreal has recently contained some very interesting comments on working conditions in the mines and factories of Great Britain, as well as on the farm. To those who are accustomed to the prevailing high rate of wages of the Canadian West, or even of Eastern Canada, and the splendid working conditions which exist here, the wages of the average British worker seem most wretched.

Whether the fortunate position of Canadians with respect to wages and working conditions, as compared with those in Great Britain, result from the respective trade policies of the two countries or not, it would seem only reasonable that Canadians should be slow to make a departure to a policy, the results of which with respect to wages they are not sure of.

Better Pay
Discussing the living wage legislation as enacted in connection with the miners' strike the correspondent of The Journal of Commerce writes as follows:

I think you will find the Liberal Government, if it remains in power, making a considerable extension in the application of living wage legislation to low-paid industries. (We shall see on calling it "minimum wage" legislation, I suppose, although we really mean "living wage" legislation). In 1909 the Government passed the Trade Boards Act, under which boards are set up to decide wages in certain trades. The intention is to prevent the payment of "sweating" wages. Under the Act minimum wages have been fixed in the chain-making, paper-making, ready-made tailoring, and lace-making trades, and in all these industries it is illegal now to pay sweating wages. And the remarkable result is that the employers in these trades are not finding the compulsory increase in wages any drawback to their prosperity. In the worst of them all, the chain-making trade, the employers cannot get workers enough. At the present time wages are being arranged in another group of low-paid industries, and now it may be said that we are on the eve of a still further extension of the principle.

Housing and Wages
The matter has arisen through the pressing forward of the housing reform proposals of the Government. These proposals, as I have already described, deal with housing conditions in the towns as well as in the country, and the Government is met with the same obstacle in both cases. How can they expect men to live in decent houses, or decent houses to be built for them, if the weekly wage is not big enough to pay for a fair rent? It is clear that basic reform is a reform in wages. And I have no doubt that the Government will attack the problem with courage and conviction. Such experiments as have been made show that higher wages can be paid with advantage to both employers and employed.

LOW WAGES IN BRITAIN

What the Lloyd George Insurance Scheme Actually Assured

According to the "Journal of Commerce" of Montreal, in a recent article dealing with the lack and unemployment features of the Lloyd George Insurance Bill, it is said that it has been found desirable to make a further extension of the principle which exempts from personal contributions individuals earning less than 25 cents a day and which takes reduced rates from those earning less than 60 cents a day. The Government authorities estimated that there would be found no fewer than 1,000,000 adult men and 711,000 adult women whose total earnings from all sources would amount to less than $100 a year. In the first quarter 411,487 persons were exempted upon these grounds, a figure which makes it probable that some two hundred thousand of poor women failed to escape an illegal deduction.

These people, who earn such miserably low wages in England, make much of the textile goods, clothing, and in some cases food products, which some Western Canadians would like to see come into Canada free of duty. In Canada as a whole, it is to encourage industries in Great Britain which are paying their help such shamefully low wages that the workers are excused from contributing to the Lloyd George Insurance Bill. It is not a Canadian in a Canadian factory, who is earning a decent living wage, worthy of support even to support him means the retention of a moderate duty on the items he is engaged in manufacturing.

THE PRICE OF EGGS

Chinese and Russians Ready to invade
Canadian Egg Market

Ordinarily tariff discussions turn on the duties on agricultural implements, machinery, woolens and other lines of manufactured products. The average citizen is prone to forget that there is a duty on most agricultural products, and while there has been a free food controversy raging for the past few months, many Canadians have a rather hazy idea of what the duty is on food products and what lines are covered.

It is generally considered that the duty on agricultural products is of no use to any one, but the discussion of the past few months and the invasion of the Canadian market by foreign farm products has made the farmer realize that protection on his products is of some value to him after all. This is becoming more evident every day in the case of eggs. A few weeks ago the Canadian Produce Association was the recipient of a communication from Shanghai, in which a local firm offered to furnish the Canadian trade with first class candied goods at 15 1/4 to 16 per dozen c.l.f. Pacific ports. During the season the shipments of Chinese eggs to the Pacific seaboard totaled 80,000 cases of 30 dozen to the case, and the claim is made that this can be increased immensely if markets will pay for them. On the Atlantic seaboard, Russian eggs are available at 16 and 18c, and the two questions would work out at about the same for Winnipeg and points further East.

During the past year or two thousands of cases of European and Chinese eggs have entered United States at various prices as far as the American producer is concerned. While the duty on eggs entering Canada is small, per dozen, it will be evident to every egg producer that if this barrier was removed the eggs would enter Pacific coast points at such less per dozen than quoted above. Those who have been getting good prices for eggs during the past few months are not anxious to see their market made less profitable by the invasion of cheap eggs from China. Instead of wiping out the duty on eggs, as has been proposed, it seems that it might be increased with advantage to the Canadian egg producer. During the past winter and spring, Western Canada has produced more eggs than ever before in its history, and for the first time on record has shipped some to Eastern Canada, in addition to supplying Winnipeg and other urban centers of the West. The entrance of Chinese eggs into the Western egg trade will have a serious effect on the prices to the producer in Western Canada.

A PERTINENT QUESTION

The Lacombe "Globe" Investigates It
Readers—How do you like Free Trade?

In a recent issue the Lacombe "Globe" propounds the following question to its readers:
According to some of our friends free trade is a cure for all the ills that afflict a farmer here. We have recently had a splendid example of the way it works. Many Lacombe farmers sustained a considerable number of deer, and were congratulating themselves that they were very profitable assets, when last week eggs dropped from twenty-five cents a dozen to about half that price, cutting off nearly all the profit. Why this drop? We have only a small import duty on eggs (were they free of duty they would be still worse), and outside markets being glutted, the surplus was dumped here. An adequate duty would have prevented this and reserved the market for the Alberta farmer.

Who profited by it? Certainly not the producer, who must sell his eggs at so low a price. Not the local buyer or middlemen, all of whom lose money on eggs bought at the higher price and sold at the lower. Not the consumer in our cities, who are now afraid to eat eggs lest they get the ancient article from China or the Southern States. Who would not rather have reliable eggs at 16c than unreliable eggs at 12c? If anyone profits, he is not in Alberta. The producer loses the market. Low duty allows China to dump millions of eggs on the markets of Alberta, as was done recently, or the Americans to dump a few carloads that will not keep any longer on the same market. Hurrah for free trade that would go a long way towards wiping out the egg trade altogether.

Every effort is being made by the Dominion Department of Agriculture to promote the sheep raising industry. This year they are offering assistance to wool growers in the preparation of their wool for market. This is a highly important branch of the wool industry.
